

Even the Democrats are skeptical. The gnawing worm of doubt — as in a dozen other states, where the results are so lopsided — is that the zealous Goldwaterites will get out 90 per cent of their vote, while, with over-confidence induced by

00 per cent of their vote, while, every mistake when they brought the polsters, the Democrats will turn out only 60 per cent.

But things have been happening not only in Iowa but in other "normally" Republican states that lend credence to the theory that the party here are being re-organized with young and enthusiastic organizers. Second, they have been coming up with young, attractive, vigorous candidates at every level. In contrast to the "old man" organization suffers from drought, and the old names and the old faces never seem to change.

A lot has been made of the huge crowd that turned out for President Johnson in Des Moines and the huge crowd that greeted Goldwater. But crowds just don't happen. They owe a lot to organization.

The powerhouse behind the Democratic organization in Iowa is the Iowa Democratic Party. Gov. Harold E. Hughes. His is one of the most, fascinating stories in American politics to date. Twelve years ago he was a poor boy from a one-room, school-with-little-more-than-a-high-school education. Today one of the state's most discerning editors says he is the first true-blue Iowa boy to become governor.

The Des Moines Register, which normally supports Republican candidates, came out for the second time in Hughes to win the term.

But Hughes was not the only last detail of the candidate's campaigner-ship of the utmost importance.

The Iowa organization is determined to make the Iowa caucus of the capital in Des Moines, a show of organized labor, which is overwhelmingly Democratic, up to 80 per cent, to elect delegates to the 1960 Democratic party convention. The campaign is a series of 232, or more, Democratic caucus meetings. In this stage of the campaign, if a candidate wins a point two or three of the six counties, he can members of the house could be elected.

Growing up in Iowa, I remember when the Democratic party was the marginal party. It was a party that was not only in times of peace and prosperity was an exceptional upsurge. In the name was the Republican party could become the marginal party. It was the Republican party that was the marginal party. It was the Republican party that was the marginal party.

Significantly, when Hughes started in politics he switched from Republican to Democrat without any of the double-talk of the ordinary politician he made himself a driving force in the party and for two years as governor in the state. A teetotaler.

demagogue," there was no doubt when he had in mind.

Even so, Goldwater accused the Johnson administration of being "soft on communism," the President refused to be tilted by Kennedy's charges. Tilted, again without mentioning Goldwater's name, he said:

Kennedy wasn't any kinder to Nixon.

I suggested "someone had better cut the cards" before the Nixon deal. And he pictured in isolation as a baleful kind of individual whose political "career" alone seemed to show charity toward none and malice toward all.

Nixon, to Kennedy, was the "trigster-happy" leader of a "wrecking crew."

Democrats this year, and some republicans before the campaign began, applied "impulsive" and "trigster-happy" to Goldwater as they all through this campaign it works."

And this week when Johnson referred to a "plucked banty rooster" it was interpreted as meaning Goldwater.

Before the campaign even began, Goldwater called John A. "phony" and "faker."

Goldwater has used as one of his campaign themes the charge that a scandal hovered over the White House. He said Johnson knows only one thing: "How to acquire fortune and power."

He said the Johnson administration had changed the alleged New Deal formula "spend and spend" to "lie and lie."

The 1964 race between President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson was far more suband this week he told NBC:

Johnson himself hasn't put nose tags on Goldwater but

Crowning of Queen, Game and Dance Highlight High School Bruin Day

By SAMMY DAVIS, JR.

Even though the local team had been defeated, spirits were high and, as if they were apparently trying to forget the Bruins hadn't been victorious, Twin Falls high school students had a real swingin' time at the after-game dance held in the school cafeteria after the Twin Falls-Borah football game.

After-game dances are usually held after almost every home game, but this one was something special—it marked the conclusion of Bruin day homecoming activities.

And while it may lack the formality and elegance of the Sweetheart ball, Junior prom and other dances which highlight events of the school year, the after-game get-togethers are in many cases more fun because they give students an outlet for pressure built up by excitement of the games.

The dance was sponsored by the Twin Falls high school Key club and was held in the school's cafeteria. Thomas Lynch is the president of the club and was in charge of general arrangements for the dance.

Even though the Key club didn't hire a band for this dance, the Twin Falls high school students seemed not to mind dancing to a juke box. Several Borah high school students also attended the dance, and expressed having a good time.

This is the type of inter-school social activities that are needed and provide students something to do and some place to go after ball games. According to one school official, "The dances help keep the students out of trouble and provide enjoyment for all." Chaperones are provided for each school dance.

Dances done by the students at this dance include The Swim, The Swing, The Bird, The Dog, The Walk and the good old reliable two-step.

A small fee is asked by the club sponsoring the dances to raise money for each unit.

The Bruin day dance ended a day of fun and enjoyment for the students. It all started first thing that morning when the cheerleaders and Pep club ran down halls at the school and shouted, "Beat Borah." Bruin day was originated during the 1962 school term.

At 2 p.m. on Bruin day, students were dismissed for an assembly in the gymnasium. This year at the assembly the students presented Dr. David A. McClusky, the team's doctor, a blanket.

Also during the assembly this year Lynch announced the finalist in the queen's contest.

After the assembly the students had the chance to take a swing, with a sledge hammer, at an old car and piano, which supposedly represented the opposing team.

Before the football game got under

BRUIN MASCOT, Nancy Hackett, appears to be thinking of another cheer to lead the Pep club. The mascot appears at every home football game and inspires the cheering. According to Miss Hackett, who is a senior at Twin Falls high school, "It gets pretty hot in here when I get very active." (Times-News photo)

Projects on which all can help are providing school supplies and outfits for children of Africa and Brazil. Individual school bags are being sewn and donations requested are pencils, crayons, erasers, scissors, rulers, tubes of glue, notebooks, paper pads, modeling clay, combs, handkerchiefs, soap and toothbrushes.

The clothing should be lightweight cotton dresses, underpants, boys' shirts and shorts, size six or larger.

Possible Steel Price Hike Increases During Week

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—Talk of a possible steel price increase mounted this week.

The speculation was heightened by a few small, selective boosts.

In some quarters the discussion centered on when—before or after election—not if an increase will come.

Meanwhile, the General Motors strike dragged into its fourth week with its effects beginning to spread to other industries.

The United Auto Workers went on strike against General Motors corporation, idling 20,000 workers. Shortly after the strike began at midnight Thursday this negotiating parties agreed to retain American Motors' unique profit-sharing plan, but local grievances still were to be resolved.

The steel price increase talk was spurred by a statement by Logan T. Johnson, president of Armco Steel corporation, that a need for a price increase exists now.

He told a news conference that even before the added cost of any new labor settlement, the company is a few cents short on which our margin of profit isn't as good as it should be.

He mentioned some grades of plate, some grades of sheet and bar products. Products needing price increases cover more than half of Armco's line, he added.

Earlier, top executives of U.S. Steel corporation, Bethlehem Steel corporation and Inland Steel company had expressed dissatisfaction with profit margins.

Price increases on steel reinforcement bars were raised by four major producers, U. S. Steel, Armco, Inland and Youngstown Sheet and Tube company.

Bars, which account for about four per cent of over-all steel product shipments, are used to strengthen concrete in construction work.

Crucible Steel company boosted by 5 to 10 per cent of the price of certain special steels sold to farm equipment manufacturers for use in plows and harrows.

Some major producers raised the price of nine one cent a pound to 14 1/2 cents a pound, East St. Louis. They included American Metal Climax, Inc., National Zinc company and U.S. Smelting, Refining and Mining.

This was the second boost in a year, and fifth in two years. American Smelting and Refining company raised its price for steel wire with only 15 cents a pound in New York.

Elsewhere on the pricing front, International Paper company increased by about five per cent prices of bleached paper used in the production of books, grades of offset and business papers, and Westinghouse Electric Co. raised prices for certain types of electrical equipment.

Steel production, already up to a 16-month high, posted a slight increase in week, totaling 2,671,000 tons against 2,653,000 the previous week.

Industry sources said demand for steel is likely to decline if the General Motors strike isn't settled quickly.

The strike again cut into auto production, idling estimated output this week to 12,840 passenger cars against 19,532 last week.

Sales fell sharply below a year earlier in the first 10 days of October. Dealers sold 210,132 American-made cars, off 20,000 cars from the same period last year.

The strike was one reason and another was that this year new cars went on sale in late September while last year they went on sale in early October.

The commerce department reported that the gross national product—total of all goods and services—in the third quarter rose 0.5 billion dollars; fixed investments increased two billion dollars; residential construction dropped 500 million dollars; and inventory accumulation fell two billion dollars.

In another report, the commerce department said retail sales dipped in September one per cent below August but were eight per cent higher than a year earlier.

Market Feels Weight From World Events

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—The stock market felt the weight of world events last week and bore up fairly well with only slight losses registered in the popular averages.

Prices started off what looked like a dull week with a minor loss and then followed up with two slightly larger declines in subsequent sessions. Brokers attributed these mainly to profit-taking.

However, prices really began to slide early Thursday under the uncertainty of the British elections and a full-blown scandal in the Democratic camp. The decline was pretty limited until around 1 p.m., when reports broke of a major shake-up in the Soviet high command.

A wave of selling pulled the Dow-Jones industrial average down 11 1/2 at its low point, but within 30 minutes prices steadied and began working their way back. The high speed tickers fell must at 27 minutes, ending the decline and failed to catch up until around 2:55 p.m. (EDT). Although the rebound was strong it was only sufficient to put losses in the red.

The deluge of overnight orders anticipated by most brokers failed to materialize and the opening Friday was routine with small two way changes on rather small block dominating the list. Prices advanced steadily throughout the session. Even news that the Chinese communist had exploded their first atomic weapon failed to cause a ripple in the uptrend.

Although the news from Moscow caused some uneasiness at first, general opinion was that it would do little to disturb overall market conditions. At most, some minor irregularity is expected until the policies of the new regime become clearer.

Motorists continued in the doldrums caused by the dragged out strike at General Motors.

The picture is expected to be further clouded now that the American Motors must negotiate a series of local contracts before it can resume production.

Dow-Jones industrial average dropped 4.54 on the week to close at 875.84. Retail sales at 221.84, but utilities added 0.81 at 154.71. Standard and Poor's 500 stock index dipped 0.30 to 23.13.

Volume totaled 2,550,000 shares compared with 25,107,870 shares a week before and 27,012,721 shares in the same week last year.

Loans took a small lead over gains. 700 loans declined while 600 advanced. Of the 1,311 issues traded, 311 rose to new highs, 419 fell to new lows, 100 were unchanged and 100 were mixed.

General Motors stock lost 1 1/2 to 87.00, on a turnover of 400,000 shares. Westinghouse, a recent favorite of the market, lost 1 1/2 to 100.00, on a turnover of 100,000 shares. General Motors stock lost 1 1/2 to 87.00, on a turnover of 400,000 shares.

6 Times-News Carrier Boys Receive Honors for Service

Six Times-News carrier boys have been honored as outstanding carriers for the past year with regard to delivery service, collections, salesmanship, length of service and scholastic standing.

All are outstanding students in their respective schools, according to Harold Stiles, assistant circulation manager. All of the boys have been newspaper carriers for from two to four years, and each has paid his dues to the 10th-of-every-month as required in his contract, Stiles said.

Will Holder, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Holder, Twin Falls, and David Gline, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. DeLawrence Gline, Bully, received a $25 savings bond each for having achieved the greatest length of service.

Other outstanding newspaper carriers include Terry Mink, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mink, Gooding; Richard Burns, Jr., 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Burns, Bully; Terry Brown, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Brown, Jr., and Danny Nickel, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nickel, all Twin Falls.

All six boys will attend the governor's banquet in Boise Nov. 11 and the Boise-Born football game. Also attending will be newspaperboys from throughout the state, circulation advisory personnel, editors and publishers. Gov. Robert E. Smylie will be featured speaker.

Each of the boys has a substantial savings account with the Times-News, Stiles said, as well as having separate accounts at local banks.

All received a framed plaque presented by the Inland Press association, sponsor of awards and supervisor of the contest.

Stiles said the six newspaper boys all agreed that good service to the customer is essentially the most important part of a carrier's job.

Heavy Losses Are Incurred On Soybeans

CHICAGO, Oct. 17 (AP)—Soybeans ended the week with heavy losses compared with the previous week as did corn and rye on the Chicago board of trade. Although experiencing losses, wheat and oats closed mixed.

Compared to last Friday, soybeans were off 5 to 7 1/2; wheat 1/2 to 1 1/2; corn off 1/2 to 1; and rye off 1/2 to 1.

The wheat market opened Monday quietly, failed to firm on Tuesday, then declined heavily Wednesday on long liquidation. Wheat was weakened Thursday on liquidation and stoploss selling. Friday saw wheat rally moderately on buying of March delivery and recovered on a demand for deferred deliveries. Export sales of one million bushels were indicated.

Soybeans rose Wednesday to close firm to strong as commodities houses bought and rallies brought out offerings. The upward trend continued through Thursday on short buying and under the influence of local buying. Futures rallied on local buying and short covering followed an upturn in all prices. Prices weakened on mixed and hedge selling which evened up nervous lungs. The market closed mixed.

Commercial selling of corn outweighed the mixed demand Monday to send prices 1 1/2 below the previous close. Tuesday the corn market was quieter with export sales of around two million bushels indicated. Wednesday corn prices weakened on hedge selling. Thursday the market weakened again. By Friday commission houses were on both sides of the market and corn closed steady to easy. Oats and rye generally followed other futures at week's opening and dropped Wednesday and Thursday, even though rye was up Tuesday. On Friday the two separated when rye closed weak to heavy and oats steady to firm.

Advisory Commission Recommends Alteration of Farm Surplus Policy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—The National Agricultural Advisory commission has recommended adoption of a national policy under which part of the current farm surplus would be designated a national security reserve.

The commission did not spell out precise levels of the stocks to be held in the proposed reserve. But Charles R. Sayre, Greenwood, Miss., acting chairman, indicated the group agreed in general terms with reserve figures mentioned earlier by Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman.

Sayre said, however, that the commission suggested to Freeman that the earlier figures be studied again by government and private experts before any formal proposals are made.

Freeman had indicated that for national safety purposes, stocks should not drop below about 10 million tons of feed grains, 630 million bushels of wheat, and 6.2 million bales of cotton.

Sayre told newsmen the report endorsing a national reserve policy was approved at a two-day advisory commission meeting which ended in Washington recently.

Under the commission proposal, the national reserve stocks would be insulated from normal commercial markets. This would be done by restrictions on sale of the stocks below a fixed price floor. An agricultural department spokesman said any such plan would probably require advance approval by congress.

The advisory group also urged the agriculture department to study the possible need for modifying a number of laws which regulate marketing of farm products, especially the federal packers and stockyards act.

In another move, the commission decided to set up a subcommittee to study the farm labor supply.

The board study touched off primarily by the fact that the Mexican farm import program is due to expire this year.

The commission also reported that it plans to complete work late this month on a board study of agricultural policy for the future. This report is being drawn up under a subcommittee headed by Prof. George Brundow, Pennsylvania State university.

Walker Says Hansen Has No Interest

State Democratic chairman Lloyd J. Walker said yesterday that George V. Hansen has "no interest in the issues or in the truth."

The Democratic leader said Hansen, the Pocatello city commissioner who opposes Rep. Ralph R. Harding, D. Ida., has engaged in smear and name-calling in the campaign.

Walker said Hansen's charges against the national council for a livable world were "wild and baseless." Hansen has contended Harding is supported by the group.

"He charged that this is an international organization and implied that the loyalty of the supporters could be questioned," Walker said. "This is a typical Birch-type smear."

Walker said the council is totally American, made up primarily of scientists, many of whom have top security clearances and worked in the development of the atomic bomb.

Farm Bureau Is Attacked By Granges

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—A running battle between farm groups over the federal farm program is reaching new heights of bitterness.

The National Grange has accused the American Farm Bureau of attacking the wheat program on a basis that appears to be almost hysterical.

The Farm Bureau, meanwhile, issued a fresh indictment of the program. Farm Bureau officials charged the plan was being port markets for American producers.

While the farm organizations are trading blows over the program, the plan has become a issue in the political campaign. Republican Presidential candidate Barry M. Goldwater has announced that his party will try to repeal the program.

Under the controversial wheat plan, farmers can qualify for price support if they voluntarily comply with government planning controls. Growers who are rolled in the program for the qualified for price support at a national average of $1.50 a bushel.

In addition, farmers in the program get marketing certificates covering about 80 per cent of the average producer's crop. These certificates limit the export of wheat to domestic markets up to a total of $2 or more a bushel. The cost of wheat export becomes an average $1.50 a bushel or more. Millers, exporters, and wheat processors, price of wheat plus a cents a bushel for domestic marketing certificates and cents for export certificates.

The Farm Bureau earlier attacked the program on the ground that the program was a cost to consumers. They charged it was being used to depress prices for farmers.

The National Grange said the facts are that the program is a benefit to consumers. The Grange says its state and local leaders will all try to spread the word that Grange officials call the measure.

The request came in a letter signed by Harry L. Grady, legislative assistant to the mayor of the National Grange. Grady said the Farm Bureau's attacks on the wheat program are the greatest effort of legislation that could remember.

Jenkins Case Is Sickening; Says Idahoan

BOISE, Oct. 17 (Special)—The shocking disclosure regarding President Johnson's personal aide Walter Jenkins, has sickened Idaho voters, John McMurray, Idaho GOP chairman said today.

This scandal, as is the Bobby Baker and the 501 cases cases, reaches directly to the highest office in the land and points up Senator Goldwater's moral case in this election. The Senators has said many times that the easy ethics of political Washington have contributed to the general decline of morals in the nation. Goldwater says that this trend cannot be reversed until the President, who has become a symbol of political expediency, is removed from office.

McMurray continued "Probably the most serious part of this whole disgusting affair is its possible effect on our national honor."

J. Edgar Hoover and other top security officials have repeatedly stated that people involved in perversion are most vulnerable in various forms of blackmail and therefore, if such persons are in sensitive government positions, national security is threatened.

McMurray said the most recent example of this is the Bureau of Maclean case where top secret information was passed on to the Soviets.

Illinois pliffed four of Peterson's passes the second half when the Gophers had the ball only seven times.

The Maroons scored five times on runs and twice on passes. They played Southern on equal terms in the fourth period when the MSU squad included players whose names did not even appear on the program.

Berry Leads Oregon Over Arizona 21-0

EUGENE, Ore., Oct. 17 (AP)—Bob Berry's passing and some alert defensive work by Les Palm led undefeated Oregon to a 21-0 victory over Arizona today on a cool afternoon.

Berry threw three touchdown passes in the 49-degree weather, bringing his total for the season to 12. He left the game in the third period as Oregon reserves took over.

Palm gave Oregon a scoring opportunity by picking off an Arizona fumble, then killed two Arizona drives with pass interceptions at his own 7 and 15 yard lines.

Oregon defenders intercepted three other passes as Arizona, unable to run against a tough defensive line, tried to pass from a short punt formation.

The visitors met with only occasional success and Palm made sure there were no scores.

The victory was Oregon's fifth straight this year and ninth in a row.

Arkansas Stops Texas' 2-Point Bid, Upset Nation's Top Team

AUSTIN, Oct. 17 (UPI)—The giant-killing Arkansas Razorbacks stunned top-ranked Texas 14-13 tonight, snapping the defending national champion Longhorns' winning streak at 15 in a row. Tom McNelly, the Arkansas kicking specialist, provided what proved to be the difference when he successfully converted after both Razorback touchdowns. Texas scored with less than two minutes to play and tried for a two-point conversion and a victory. But quarterback Marvyn Kristynik's pass was batted away and the Razorbacks had won.

The feet-footed Razorbacks put their touchdowns on the scoreboard with two big plays: an 81-yard punt return for a score by Kenny Hatfield and a 24-yard clutch third-down pass from quarterback Freddie Marshall to out Hobbie Crockett.

The Razorbacks, who now move into the spotlight as the favorite to win the Southwest conference crown, chalked up their fifth straight win of the year without a loss. Arkansas was ranked 10th nationally before the game.

Texas was held scoreless until the fourth period, Wingback Phil Harris went over from the two to clinch a 40-yard drive for the first touchdown and fullback Ernie Koy scored the second from the one to end a 70-yard last-gasp Texas drive.

It was after Koy's touchdown that Coach Darrell Royal, preferring the possibility of a loss to a 14-14 tie, sent in instructions to go for the two-point conversion.

Texas' ace placekicker David Conway stayed on the bench. Koy came out and was replaced by Tom Stockton. Kristynik took the snap and sent fullback Bill Green to the right for a pass, but the ball was batted to the ground.

Arkansas held onto the ball until the clock ran out the final 1:27 minutes.

It was the first time since 1959 that Arkansas had defeated Texas. That score, too, was by one point—24-23.

Texas went through the 1963 season undefeated, was crowned national champions and beat Navy 28-8 in the Cotton Bowl on Jan. 1. The last previous time they lost was to Louisiana State 13-0 in the 1963 Cotton Bowl.

But the Razorbacks came to Austin with something in mind—to beat Texas—and they did in the only thing that counts—the final score.

Texas, however, dominated the statistics.

Nebraska Rips Kansas State

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 17 (AP)—Nebraska's halfback Ken Cloughan raced 60 yards to a first quarter touchdown today and set in motion a scoring parade that carried the sixth-ranked Cornhuskers to a 47-0 Big Eight football triumph over Kansas State.

Not a hand was laid on the 6-foot, 2-inch senior as he snatched a pitchout from quarterback Bob Churchich and sprinted down the sideline before a record homecoming crowd of 45,000.

It was Nebraska's 12th consecutive victory in a string dating back to last season and set a school record of 28 consecutive games in which Cornhuskers have scored.

Nebraska's defense was equally strong, intercepting three passes and recovering two fumbles.

The Maroons scored five times on runs and twice on passes. They played Southern on equal terms in the fourth period when the MSU squad included players whose names did not even appear on the program.

Bengals Held to Under 100 Yards In 20-0 Defeat

BOZEMAN, Mont., Oct. 17 (AP)—Montana State Bobcats held the defending Big Sky football champion Idaho State Bengals to less than 100 yards total offense to gain a 20-0 victory today. The game, played most of the day in a wet snowstorm, was the opening Big Sky conference game for both clubs.

So tough was the Bobcat defense that Idaho State was able to get past the midfield stripe only twice. The deepest penetration was to the Bobcat 44-yard line.

After having two drives stalled in the first period, the Bobcats got their opening score late in the second quarter on a three-yard off-tackle smash by halfback Dan Sundling.

The touchdown drive was 70 yards. The key play was a 25-yard keeper play by quarterback Dan Foley from the ISU 37 to the 13.

Gary Richards recovered a Bengal fumble for the Bobcats.

On the ISU 15 late in the third period. On the first play following the recovery, Bobcat fullback Dave Miller boomed over for the score.

With only seconds left in the game and the Bengals deep in their own territory, reserve safety Marv Tiller picked off a Bengal pass on the 10 and ran untouched for the final score.

Washington State, which has lost three games by a margin of three points or less this season, closed the gap by marching 53 yards in 11 plays before quarterback Ken Berry went over the one-yard line on the first play of the fourth quarter.

Washington State called down the field three times in the first half before San Jose got on the scoreboard.

In 20 swimming and diving events, the U.S. has won 14. Of a possible 55 medals, the U.S. has gained 35.

In all, the U.S. has won 28 gold medals, 12 silver and 17 bronze. Russia, which has yet to start competition in some of its strongest events, such as gymnastics, has 33 medals, 11 of them gold.

The blonde Miss Duenkel, a student at West Orange, N.J., high school, was timed in an Olympic record 4:43.2, beating the mark made in the trials by Marilyn Ramenofsky, Flushing, Miss. Ramenofsky was second in 4:44.6 and Terri Stickles, San Mateo, Calif., third in 4:47.2 as the United States chalked up its fourth one-two-three sweep of a swimming event.

The others came in the women's 400 meter individual medley, the men's 200-meter backstroke and the men's springboard diving.

The swimmers have contributed 35 medals to America's total, including 14 gold.

Carl Roble, Drexel Hill, Pa., and Fred Schmidt, Northbrook, Ill., finished second and third, respectively, behind Australia's Kevin Barry in the men's 200 meter butterfly finals. Barry was timed in a world record 2:06.8.

At the United States' unbeaten basketball team continued to roll along, smashing Korea 116-50 for its seventh straight victory and last of the preliminary round.

Webster, the Santa Ana, Calif., defending champion, had to come from behind, climbing from sixth place in the last three dives, to continue the U.S. domination of platform diving.

The U.S. team failed to win the event only once since 1912.

Tom Gompf, Dayton, Ohio, earned a bronze medal for third place.

Webster started the day in the sixth place, lagging behind Italy's Klaus Dibbern, who led after seven preliminary dives.

Dibbern retained what appeared to be a commanding lead after the first three dives, but Webster slipped into the lead on the second dive and dramatically clinched his second consecutive title on his final dive.

His winning dive was an impeccable two and a half somersault in tuck position with a 2.6 degree of difficulty. The largest degree of difficulty is 3.0.

U.S. coach Dick Kimball had been far from satisfied with the performances of his divers Saturday. But Webster made up for that Sunday.

Gompf, meanwhile, picked up 160 points and a 146.57 total, good for third place.

At the same time, Edith McGuire of Atlanta moved into the semifinals of the women's 200 meter dash, winning her heat in 24.4 seconds, the fastest time of any competitor.

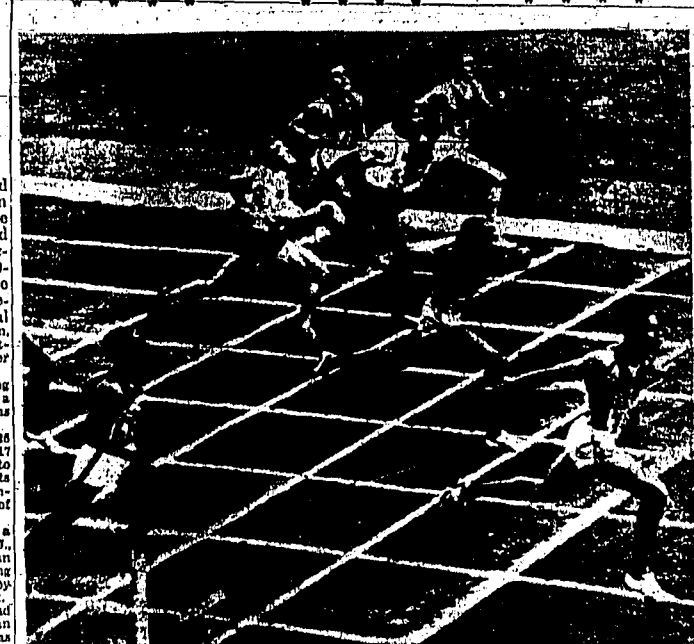

Miss McGuire won a silver medal in the 100 meter dash. The winner of that event, Wyoming's Tyus Griffin, was not entered in the 200.

Purdue Surprises Michigan by 21-20

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 17 (AP)—Purdue quarterback Bob Griese passed for two touchdowns and the defense contained Michigan's attack as the Rollermakers upset the fifth-ranked Wolverines 21-20 today. Michigan gambled for two points and a possible win after Bob Timberlake rambled 54 yards for a fourth quarter touchdown. But Timberlake was caught short of the goal line.

Griese passed 66 yards to Jim Morel in the first period and hit Randy Minniear on a three-point play.

The teams traded touchdowns through the first half as Michigan scored on a four-yard run by Timberlake and a 17-yard pass from Timberlake to Steve Smith.

Minnesota went over from two yards out for Purdue's second touchdown.

Michigan advanced into Purdue territory one more time after Timberlake's long run. But fullback Dave Fisher fumbled and Purdue recovered on the 42.

Earlier, Michigan marched to the Rollermaker 11 where Jim Griese intercepted the three-point play and Purdue recovered in its own end zone.

T. F. Breaks 7-7 Deadlock With 2 Late Scores

PDCATELLO, Oct. 17—Tommy Lynch romped 82 yards for a touchdown on the opening kickoff but the Twin Falls Bruins didn't nail down a 20-7 decision over the Pocatello Indians until coming up with a pair of fourth quarter scores last night. Hampered by numerous penalties, but saved by good defensive work, the Bruins finally broke the game open with 8:40 left to play when Tom Lynch went five yards on a counter play. With 35 seconds left, Scott Struve tipped for 10 yards off tackle for the final tally.

Haurte's Arm Leads Irish Over UCLA

SOUTH BEND, Ind. Oct. 17—John Haurte passed for two touchdowns as fourth-ranked Notre Dame flashed a powerful blend of air and ground power in whipping UCLA 24-9 today. The Irishmen's lightning Irish, capturing their fourth victory, drove 63 yards in 11 running plays to score the first time they got the ball.

They turned a pass interception into another touchdown in the second period for a 12-0 half-time lead. Then they led it in the third by converting a four yard run into a touchdown. The Bruins, absorbing their second straight lousiness after opening with three triumphs, reached beyond midfield only twice.

Stolen Pass Drops Lions For Syracuse

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa., Oct. 17—A 38-yard pass interception return by Roger Smith set up a last minute touchdown by Walley Mahle, giving seventh-ranked Syracuse a hard-earned 21-14 football victory over Penn State today.

Smith snared the errant pass on his 40-yard run and raced to the Penn State 22. Seven plays later, Mahle scored from the line of scrimmage.

Later, Mahle scored from the four yard line on a 10-play drive. The Lions, who had taken a 14-7 halftime lead, were unable to score in the third period behind the running of Floyd Little and Jim Nance to march 64 yards for the tying touchdown.

Ward Leads Devils Over Trojans 32-0

RAPT RIVER, Oct. 17—Brian Ward scored all five touchdowns yesterday as he led Murtaugh Red Devils to their fifth win and handed Rapt River its seventh defeat of the season. Mike Love and Jay Moyes got the two extra points that made the score 32-0. Froh Roy Jones had 120 yards rushing for Rapt River as he directed the Trojans to the 15-yard line of Murtaugh in the first and to the 20 in the third, where a penalty stopped the drive.

Ward scored his first tally in the opening minutes of the first period from two yards. He added another in the third from four. In the fourth, Ward pushed over from the one yard line with a 30 yard run with a short pass. For his final score he went 30 yards off tackle.

Love and Moyes got their conversions on Ward's last two touchdowns.

Jerome Drives for Touchdown in Last Two Minutes to Edge Bishop Kelly

JEROME, Oct. 17—A blocked extra point kick by Pat Williams in the last minute of the game made the difference for the Jerome Tigers last night as quarterback Mel Tinker directed the Tigers to a 27-20 victory over Bishop Kelly of Boise.

Tinker was at his best in the last minute rush for the winning tally, with 60 yards in the air on two passes after Bishop Kelly had turned an on-side kick into a go-ahead goal.

Camas County Drops Panthers From Unbeaten Ranks by 25-7

CAREY, Oct. 17—The Camas County Musers, remembering their last defeat was on the Carey football field in 1962, turned loose Bill Bartholomew for three touchdowns and handed the previously undefeated Carey Panthers a 25-7 loss yesterday. The victory gave Camas County, undefeated in 21 straight games, sole possession of the Snake River conference lead and moved them to within one game of the title.

Successful as the Musers were to meet Cascade, the state's No. 2 ranked team, in a playoff later this fall, Bartholomew, who was just a half step faster all day, got Camas County in front in the first quarter when he slashed off tackle, veered to the outside and set up a footrace down the sidelines. The last defender made a dive at the 10-yard line but was short and Bartholomew went over standing up. The try for point failed.

Carey, the underdog in the game, bounced right back with a long drive. Lee Cook started it with a pass to Don Payne and then Cook rammed 34 yards to the Muser three-yard line.

Three plays into the second quarter, Bartholomew plunged over from the two and a Cook pass to Payne got the extra point.

The Musers replied with a drive that carried to the Carey 33 before Panther S. Jones came up with a fumble. But the Panthers had to punt back and on the first play Bartholomew swept and for 60 yards to put Camas ahead to stay.

Bartholomew broke the game wide open as he gathered in the second half kickoff at his own 42-yard line and sprinted 65 yards to paydirt. On the first play after the ensuing kickoff, Camas County recovered a fumble and drove inside the 10-yard line before Carey held.

Cook got 22 yards trying to run the ball out of trouble but was forced into punt formation four plays later. He fumbled the pass from center and Calg Tucker broke through to drop him in the 21-yard line. Dennis Costella made that break pay off when he scored on a three-yard, rollout, second later.

On the last play of the game, Camas County went into a spread formation. Clint Ballard took a short pass and turned it into a 42-yard gain. The Panthers made a last ditch, but successful, diving tackle at the 12 yard line.

But the lead did not last long as Bishop Kelly blocked a Tiger punt on the 17-yard line and Yaura moved it across from the two. Williams blocked the extra point kick that proved to be the winning margin.

On the kickoff Heaton put it short and to the left side where Bishop Kelly recovered after the ball was touched by a Jerome player. Heaton took it across from the six and his extra-point kick was wide.

Then it was Tinker's time to direct the Tigers back down the field with two minutes remaining in the game.

Bill Dubak and Neil Blitch made the all important tackles that kept Bishop Kelly away from the goal.

After the kickoff the Tigers let Bishop Kelly run three plays

Camas County Drops Panthers From Unbeaten Ranks by 25-7

CAREY, Oct. 17—The Camas County Musers, remembering their last defeat was on the Carey football field in 1962, turned loose Bill Bartholomew for three touchdowns and handed the previously undefeated Carey Panthers a 25-7 loss yesterday. The victory gave Camas County, undefeated in 21 straight games, sole possession of the Snake River conference lead and moved them to within one game of the title.

Filer Uses Speed to Blast Valley 46-13

EDEN, Oct. 17—Filer's Wildcats, clicking better as the season progresses, stunned Valley with three touchdowns in the first quarter and breezed to a 46-13 Big Eight conference victory last night. The win gave Filer sole possession of the league second spot, one game behind Gooding. Filer's overall speed was the difference as Larry Hepworth and Gordon Pedrow broke long runs most of the night and junior quarterback Steve Sharp pitched in with some nifty passing.

Expected to be an evenly-matched game, the llyon was shattered early. Taking over at their own 20-yard line, the Wildcats rolled 70 yards in five plays. The big one was a 54-yard pass from Sharp to Mal, and Pedrow followed with an 11-yard sprint. Then Hepworth plunged into the end zone.

Seconds later Lloyd Gary intercepted a Filer pass and returned it 44 yards for a touchdown and just before the period ended Sharp hit Pedrow on a 61-yard pass play worth six points.

Hepworth, who was the chief playmaker, opened the second quarter with a 73-yard end sweep. Valley then got on the scoreboard, quarterback Lupe Torres, faced with a fourth and seven situation, hitting Terry English for the touchdown. Dale Perkins converted.

As the second half opened Hepworth sprinted 42 yards for another touchdown and Gary came up with his second pass interception, running this one back 25 yards to the Valley 15 yard line. Piler drove in closer before Sharp hit John Kauffman on a seven-yard tackle eligible pass for the score.

The gutsy Torres brought Valley back down the field and got the last yarding touchdown on a 30-yard pass to English.

But Filer had the last say, reserve fullback Steve Taylor ripped through the middle of the line and sprinted 42 yards.

Buhl Strikes Early, Beats Tigers 26-7

MOUNTAIN HOME, Oct. 17—Buhl's Indians erupted for 10 points in the second quarter last night and rolled over Mountain Home 26-7 in a Cross State conference game.

Buhl opened with a drive that Mike Pierce finally culminated on a one-yard drive.

As the second period began Randy Baxter scored from three yards out and then senior quarterback Clark Griffith hit Terry Down on a 12-yard scoring pass. Before the intermission Baxter capped Buhl's scoring on a three-yard drive.

Pierce got the first point after on a pass from Griffith while Baxter plunged for the extra point after the fourth score.

Mountain Home prevented the shutout when Corey drove in from two yards out and Alzola converted by running.

Favored Tigers Rally to Draw With Bobcats

IDAHO FALLS, Oct. 17—The Idaho Falls Tigers came from behind in the final quarter to hold the Burley Bobcats to a 7-7 deadlock in a battle of underdog teams last night. The result left the two tied for the Eastern Idaho conference lead after a scoreless first half. John Schorzman got the Bobcats on the score board on a one-yard drive. His run had carried the Bobcats to the 13-yard line and Russ Mathews' counter back kept set up his scoring plunge. Vance Mathews then converted.

Idaho Falls mustered its tie-saving score on a 60-yard drive. Ken Dalinger, Ray Crockett and Randy Lord taking turns in carrying. A penalty against Burley helped Idaho Falls gain the two-yard line and quarterback Hank Sells scored from there. Dave Bell booted the point-after.

Late in the game Burley attempted a field goal but it was nullified on an illegal procedure penalty. The Bobcats' second attempt was wide.

Idaho Falls Tigers' coach, John Schorzman, said after the game: "We were looking for the win all year. It was not Yogi's fault. It was ours."

Webb resigned from the position after winning the series and is now a general manager in the Yankee position.

Referring to Terra and the series, Webb said: "We've been looking into the situation all year. It was not Yogi's fault. It was ours."

He explained that he felt the club had been playing poorly since the club he played for had happened in Yogi's case, at that time new manager, who proved himself capable of leading the club after two or three years in the minors.

Webb was asked about reports that he would sell his interest in the Yankees and buy into the Los Angeles Angels.

"I've been reading about it," he said with a wide grin.

Gooding Slips To Win Over Glenns Ferry

GOODING, Oct. 17—Rusty Boyer intercepted a pass in the first quarter and Gooding went on to defeat Glenns Ferry 20-0. The Pilots dominated the play in the first half but could not get the long runs working for them. Jim Blair and Jim Schwegler played at their best for Glenns Ferry and Blair gave the Senators several good scores with his running around end.

After three exchanged points in the first quarter Boyer intercepted a Pilot pass on the Gooding 40. Danny Hendrix carried it up the middle for five. Leonard Bay was off tackle for six yards and Ron Adamson took it the remaining 43 yards. He also added the extra point.

Mike Woodhead scored the Senators' second tally midway in the second quarter when he intercepted a pass and went for 60 yards. Adamson kicked the extra point.

Duke Norflett intercepted a pass to stop another Glenns Ferry drive shortly before the half ended at 14-0.

In the fourth quarter Gooding put together a scoring drive after the Pilots had been stopped on the Senators' 30-yard line. Bay went 10 down the middle, Adamson went for 10 and 20 yard tackle and Bay added two more up the middle. Adamson carried it the remaining 40 yards for the touchdown but his extra point kick was blocked.

Bids Asked On Three Gem Projects

BOISE, Oct. 17 (AP)—The state highway department called today for bids on three projects, one in southwestern Idaho, another in south central Idaho and the third in the north.

The northern job, on which bids will be opened Nov. 17, involves constructing a rest area and facilities, planting trees, seeding and constructing a water distribution system at Sheep Creek, on U.S. highway 95, in Idaho county.

Bids on the two other projects will be opened Nov. 10.

One involves construction of a four-lane divided roadway, curb and gutter and a plantix bituminous surfacing on 0.600 mile of state highway 69 from the Meridian interchange on Interstate highway 20 to Meridian, in Ada county.

The other project involves construction of two 34-foot concrete bridges and a 12-foot corrugated multiple pipe culvert on the Castleford-Piler road in Twin Falls county.

GOP Leader Says Wagner Is Puppet

Charles Luntz, Twin Falls county Republican chairman, said Saturday he is amazed by statements attributed to Roscoe Wagner calling Senator George Blisk a puppet.

"It is obvious that Wagner is the Charlie McCarthy of that great liberal ward," Luntz said. "I am sure that Roscoe Walker, the Democratic chairman, is a puppet."

The reckless statements made in the name of Wagner are obviously ghost-written by Walker, the professional politician. Walker has publicly stated that it was one of his pet projects to elect Wagner.

"Walker wants to have his man and pull the strings on him every action in Boise. So, when we hear of a puppet, let's place the label squarely where it belongs—right on Roscoe Wagner."

New Senior Citizens Units Considered

An initial step toward construction of 40 additional senior citizen housing units in Twin Falls will be taken Monday night when the city commission considers a resolution authorizing a cooperative agreement with the Twin Falls housing authority.

Upon adoption of such a resolution the city then would have to establish a "workable program" which would qualify with the housing finance authority before funds could be provided for the work.

City Manager H. L. Derrick said there are no definite plans yet as to details of the proposed project.

Agenda for the city commission meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday also includes a report on new power rates for water and sewer pumping, authorization of bid invitations on liability insurance and proclamation of Saturday as United Nations day.

Harding Speaks On Import Bill

DUBOIS, Oct. 17 (AP)—Rep. Ralph Harding told a breakfast meeting today he is proud to have supported the import quota bill which the president has signed into law.

The Idaho Democrat said that although the measure is not as strong as the provision in earlier bills he had introduced it would nevertheless result in reducing imports.

"Foreign shippers of meat now realize that the United States is no longer a dumping ground for beef and mutton that cannot be sold elsewhere," Harding said.

New State Library Listed for Construction

BOISE, Oct. 17 (AP)—United Press International learned yesterday a new state library, a University of Idaho collection, and a center for emotionally disturbed and delinquent children are listed among 23 million dollars in construction requests for the next biennium.

Sources said the collection project on the Moscow campus is the largest of the state's institutions. New building requests at $3,131,040. However, it is given priority by the university staff.

The requests, UPI was told, come to $23,000,805. Revenues to the state permanent building fund are expected to total only seven million dollars for the biennium starting July 1, 1965. Most of the money comes from the "head-tax" portion of the state income tax.

The state library has asked for $462,000 to build a new state library building. The library presently is housed in the basement of the state historical society building in Boise.

State health officials asked $450,000 to construct somewhere in the Boise Valley an evaluation and treatment facility for emotionally disturbed and delinquent children.

The University of Idaho which this fall for the first time was forced to restrict its enrollment, asked projects totaling $9,115,870. Its sister institution, Idaho State universally at Pocatello, requested $4,170,400.

Listed ahead of the collection building in priority were a new college of education building, $1,202,400; an engineering laboratory, $1,071,640; a women's physical education facility, 1,080,140; and an agricultural science building wing, $1,409,700. No priority was given to a college of mines building, $170,400.

ISU gave a college of business administration and general classroom building estimated at $1,036,115 first priority among new construction. Listed high among repairs and renovation were repairs and renovation of an aircraft hangar to upgrade its aviation class $27,000, and remodeling its liberal arts building for biological sciences, $272,420.

Other Idaho state priorities include purchase of the Hancock county shop for diesel classes, $51,000; campus development, $256,000; remodeling of the vocational arts building, $152,630; adding to the library, $44,610; remodeling the industrial crafts building, $52,235.

A request for $500,000 for the first and second phases of construction of a new state veterans affairs commission.

The state legislature appropriated $400,000 for the project and the source said the commission indicated the $500,000 would be in addition to the earlier appropriation.

The school for the Deaf and Blind at Gooding listed a $50,000 addition to its gymnasium as first priority. Second was $144,303 maintenance and vocational education shop building. The Tuberculosis Hospital at Gooding, asked $19,500.

The state health board asked $637,200 for Nampa state school and $216,300 for state hospital addition. Hospital North listed as first priority a 40-bed hospital addition that would cost $534,000. Hospital South's first priority was a $500,000 patient services facility. The Nampa activity building and physical activity center as its first priority.

Board Blames Strikes on Production

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—The federal reserve board yesterday blamed last month's auto strikes for keeping industrial production for the country almost unchanged during the month.

The board said industrial production in September was 133.5 per cent of the 1957-59 average. This was about the same as in August, but was up 0.5 per cent from a year ago.

The strikes reduced auto production about 10 per cent, the board said. Auto production had been expected to rise during the month, bringing up the over-all figures.

The board said further declines in auto output were likely this month because the strikes had extended into October.

Sawtooth Area Ski Docks Positioned on Two Lakes

OBSEDIAN, Oct. 17—Six newly constructed ski docks, paid for by the special marine tax levied by inmates at the Idaho penitentiary, are now riding to position on Redfish lake in the Sawtooth valley area of the state.

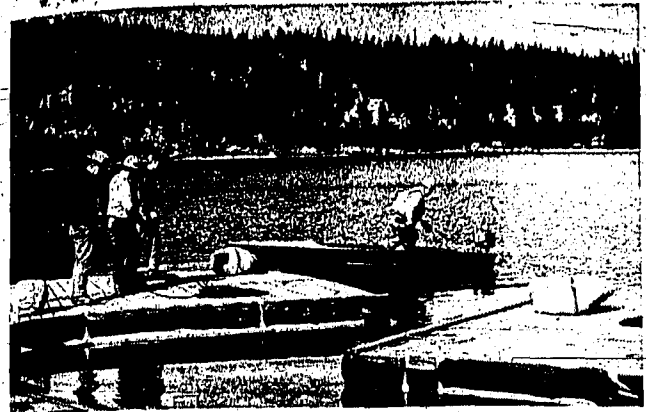

The 14 by 16-foot docks were placed in previously selected positions on the lake by U.S. forest service and state motor vehicle bureau personnel last week. At the same time it was announced that four other ski docks will be placed on Alturas lake. These will be of the same kind as those at Redfish. All installations will be completed this fall.

The dock placement comes as a result of cooperation between the forest service, the state and the county. Jack Reinsch is waterways committee chairman for Blaine county and Charles (Chuck) Trogue, field representative of the motor vehicle bureau, Boise.

A motor boat was used to push the docks around the lake and into position. The units are anchored about 100 feet from the shore in each instance and are held in place by 800-pound rocks, attached to steel cables which in turn are attached to the dock.

Each dock has a flotation material under it and the edges are covered with split automobile tires. They will be used primarily by skiers as a resting and taking off area.

At the same time work was done on the docks at Redfish lake. (Continued on Page 24)

RECREATION TECHNICIAN Dave Lee, Sawtooth valley ranger station, inspects large rock which was one of many selected to serve as an anchor in connection with location of new ski docks on Redfish lake. A steel cable runs through a drilled hole in the rock and the cable is then attached to the dock. (Times-News photo)

NEW MARKER buoy, one of several which will designate swimming areas on Redfish and Alturas lakes, is inspected by Ralph Olson, district ranger at Sawtooth valley station near Obseidian. The buoys were made at the state penitentiary through use of marine funds and state and county cooperation. (Times-News photo)

Disappearing Telephone Wires Herald New Methods for Transmission of Spoken Word

By O. A. (Gus) KELKER
Times-News Feature Editor

Next time you see a series of telephone poles, with wires stretching from one pole to the next, you had better take a long, hard look.

You will be looking at something which, in the not too distant future, will disappear entirely. Frankly, that voice of yours, when spoken into a telephone, right now seldom travels over telephone wires—as such. The voice more often will now go from one city to another either underground through cables or through the air by means of microwave equipment. This line-of-sight method of getting spoken words from one place to another is gradually replacing the old standby—the telephone wires. Microwave can do the job easier and with less bother to all concerned.

While Leo Vogel, district manager of the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company with headquarters in Twin Falls, wouldn't come right out with a cut and dried answer that the reporter interviewing him was just about right, he did not argue too much when the question of the disappearing wires came up. Right now, chances are that when you place a long distance call your voice is traveling right alongside other voices being projected over the microwave units. These "other voices" in the Twin Falls area can number as high as 600 at a time with present equipment used to capacity and there are systems which can transmit 11,000 voices at once. That, even telephone company officials admit, is a lot of talking.

In this immediate vicinity—say, for instance, over Magic Valley and this section of Idaho—that voice of yours reaches a destination by various means. When you talk to Sun Valley your voice goes by microwave. The big unit there is right atop Mt. Baldy and cost a total of $54,000.

Actually, to talk to Sun Valley, your voice will go from the downtown telephone office to the Jerome butte unit; from there to the Kinsey station, north of Shoshone, and from there to the top of the famed ski mountain.

There are 80 channels between Twin Falls and Sun Valley. City with one quarter of them over wire and the rest by microwave. Service between Boise and Twin Falls is practically all by microwave while if you talk to someone in the Stanley area then your voice goes by microwave to Ketchum and by wire from there on.

Talking to Halley sends your voice by microwave to Ketchum and then underground back to Halley. To Buhl the "talk" will go either over wire or microwave, yet the one doing the talking—or the one listening—cannot tell any difference between the systems.

Generally speaking, it is more economical to pay underground cables for telephone conversations. (Continued on Page 27)

Both Party Chiefs Eye Vote Victory

By EARLE L. JESTER

BOISE, Oct. 17 (AP)—State officials and political leaders joined Saturday in predicting near record voting in Idaho's general election, little more than two weeks away.

But the state chairmen of the two political parties split sharply—as would be expected—in their predictions of the outcome.

"I am extremely confident at this stage," said Lloyd Walker, Twin Falls Republican Democratic chairman. "I don't think there is any question but that President Johnson is substantially ahead."

"And I think that in both congressional races the Democratic incumbents are doing very well."

But John McMurray, Boise, the Republican chairman, was equally certain.

"I am just as confident as I can be that we will carry the state for Barry Goldwater," he said.

"The congressional races will be close. We definitely will beat Harding and we have a good chance of beating White."

Rep. Ralph Harding, in the second district, and Rep. Compton J. White, Jr., in the first, are the Democratic incumbents.

Their Republican challengers are John McGinnis, a Kellough real estate man, in the first district, and George Hansen, a Pocatello city commissioner, in the second.

Both McMurray and Walker said voter interest in the election is high and McMurray predicted. (Continued on Page 27)

Times-News Women's Page Editor Recipient of Music Club Award

An award of merit was presented to Mrs. Norma Herzinger, women's page editor for the Times-News, from the National Federation of Music Clubs for her coverage of the Twin Falls Music club's White breakfast in February.

The Twin Falls Music club was among the 5,500 clubs of the National Federation of Music Clubs to celebrate the "Parade of American Music" at the annual White breakfast held in honor of its founder, Gov. Robert E. Boyle proclaimed February as American Music month and all of the 12 clubs in Idaho, as well as the 29 Junior clubs, had observances.

Mrs. Herzinger's coverage of the White breakfast was sent to Mrs. James Kinney, Twin Falls Music club publicity chairman, to Bernice Bruzen, Idaho press chairman of the Idaho Federated Music club, for her state press scrapbook. Mrs. Bruzen immediately called Mrs. Kinney and requested that she be sent an extra copy of the story to be sent to Mrs. Blant Burford, public relations department of the National Federation of Musical clubs, Charleston, S.C. Mrs. Bruzen felt this particular story was outstanding and might be eligible for a national award.

Nothing more was heard about this until last week when Mrs. Marshall Lebaron, state president of the Idaho Federated Music club, gave this award to the

HEADING FOR A long way from home this week will be Mike, a Samoyed dog owned by Dick Stettler, son of Mrs. Dorothy Black, Hailey. The dog will accompany his master from Travis Air Force Base, Calif., for three years service at Misawa Air Force Base, 200 miles north of Tokyo, Japan. Since average snowfall there is about 10 feet, Mike should be right at home. Mrs. Black notes: He was one of the sled dogs at Sun Valley the past two winters. After Stettler left for the Air Force he was hard to tell which missed the other most. Mrs. Black said. (Times-News photo)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Airman Dick Stettler, son of Mrs. Dorothy Black of the BD Square kennels, HAILEY, leaves Oct. 21 from Travis Air Force Base, Calif., for three years of service at Misawa Air Force Base, Japan. With him will go his Samoyed dog, "Mike." "Having sort of grown up together, it was hard to tell who missed whom the most when Dick, right after graduation from high school, joined the Air Force," said his mother. The Air Force has made arrangements for Stettler to take his dog with him to the Japanese base which is 800 miles north of Tokyo. Average snowfall there is about 10 feet, and Mike will be right at home, for he is one of the BD kennel's top dogs and is known by many who rode the dog sleds at SUN VALLEY the past two winter seasons.

Mrs. Black has gone to El Cajon, Calif., with Mike, where she will visit her son at the home of her brother and then take them to the field, to see them off to Japan. After completing his basic training at Lackland AFB, Stettler took his on-the-job training at Amarillo Air Force Base, Tex. "Dick is a very helpful boy," says Mrs. Black. "He's just that kind of a dog. He has been called 'lover boy' because he is such a 'ham.' He is one of the top dogs in our kennels, but he belongs to Dick. He has not been himself since Dick left and we are happy they will be together."

The axiom, "A woman can do anything a man can do," was proven again when Christy Crockett, Rock Creek, south of JENSEN, took over duties as a watermaster, or ditchrider, for the Rock Creek area this year. Christy can be called a very young woman; however, as she was just 19 this past spring. She is about five feet, four inches tall, a small, slender, very attractive, pretty brunette, not what one would expect in a watermaster at all.

She took over the job in April for her father, the late George (Bud) Crockett, who was ill with incurable cancer. He had been the watermaster for the past few years and asked Christy to do it for him, and she decided she would try.

Christy attended the first semester last year at the University of Idaho at Moscow, and after her examinations in January she flew home. She felt something was wrong at home, but her family had told her only that her father had an operation.

All her friends at the University knew the nature of her father's illness, as their parents had written them, but they were all cautioned not to tell Christy as they were concerned that it might upset her so much that she wouldn't be able to concentrate on her exams.

When she came home, she decided not to go back to school for the second semester, but preferred to stay home with her parents.

Christy is the youngest of four children, and the only one still at home. A sister, Emily, Mrs. Charles Stettler, and a brother, Brian, and family, live at Gardnerville, Nev., and another brother, Ivan, and family, live at Bountiful, Utah.

said she didn't know either, at first. A headgate is controlled by gates that can be pushed up or down, to determine the flow of water and can be unlocked. A weir, however, controls the water by a dam, such as lengths of board, laid across edgewise in the water to back it up. These have to be measured by width of the weir as well as depth or height to determine the amount of water allowed to run over; and since they varied, it necessitated a lot of figuring. The creek, too, varied with the flow of water going up and down.

Christy's mode of transportation is a motorcycle, which she enjoys riding. Her father had used it also. It could get her much closer to her areas of work much better than a car, and faster, too.

However, when it rained too much, as it did this spring at times, she sometimes drove the Jeep accompanied by her own three dogs, and one belonging to her uncle, Ted Crockett. She jokingly said, "The motorcycle made a good fast get-away in case anyone was inclined to hit me over the head with a shovel!"

She always wears a helmet, at her mother's insistence, and once it certainly proved its worth when she was thrown from her motorcycle. It had been raining and had caused a mud puddle.

Christy had gone through it carefully the first time, but in her own words—"I became overconfident, stepped on the gas, and wham! I landed on my head in the mud puddle. Of course, a farmer had to see me and I was very embarrassed." But aside

End of Era for Sun Valley Takes Place Sunday Noon

SUN VALLEY, Oct. 17 — It will be just after noon Sunday when an era ends at this famed resort.

About 10 minutes after the hour a special train consisting of two diners, two lounge cars and from being wet and dirty, she was unharmed.

Another experience occurred when she first started. She had on her helmet and was dressed in trousers and jacket when she drove up on her motorcycle to a headgate.

A group of men were trying to get their own water. They looked at her evidently thinking she was a boy. They asked her what she wanted. When she removed her helmet they recognized her, and when she told them she was the watermaster, they stopped back and let her get at her work.

Mrs. Crockett said she didn't know how she could have managed this summer without Christy in other ways as well, as she makes a very good hired hand.

She raked and baled the hay this summer, and helped with chores and cattle.

Christy, modestly asked people "not to give me too much credit, as I couldn't have done it without the help and patience of everyone." But she has evidently done very well, learned a lot, and also done a lot of growing up in the last year.

Survey Shows Approval for Burley Plan

BURLEY, Oct. 17—Distribution of a survey on public opinion for a proposed new recreation center for Burley is complete and returns this day, according to Paul Johnson, one of the inventors, are running 90 per cent in favor of such a facility.

He stated that some people are confusing the plans by assuming it is a city-sponsored program. Actually it will be built with private funds and operated as an independent business.

Membership will be by subscription and the fee, when broken down on a daily use basis, would amount to only a few cents per day for 12 hours, six days a week, he explained.

Johnson explained that the high school returns make it important girls and women want to be able to join. He said this will be worked out in later plans.

Complimentary membership will be possible for those who are proven worthy through working out a membership in some way.

The purpose of the center is to provide recreation for young people who are not participating in athletic programs in church and/or school as well as for working men and women who believe in keeping physically fit.

(Fifth of a Series about Idaho Irrigation Development)

Deep Well Pumping Provided Post-War Impetus for Idaho's IRRIGATION DEVELOPMENT

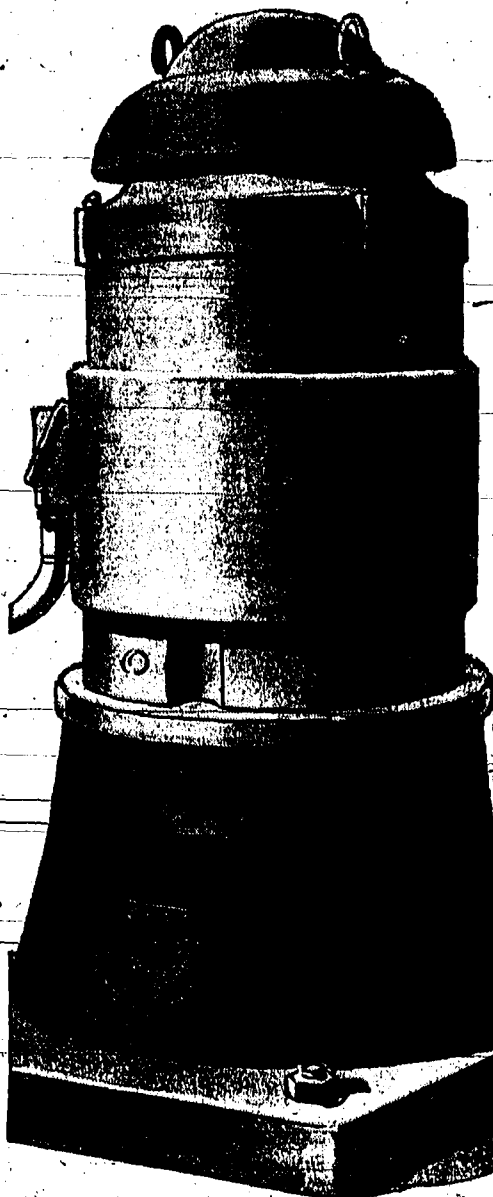

Deep well pumping for large scale development with a "big lift" came to Idaho following World War II. The late Julion Clawson opened up the Rupert area with massive reclamation of the fertile desert, using large electric pumps to tap ground water. Those were the days when a pump lift of 265 feet was considered to be a remarkable feat in terms of economic feasibility.

Farmers came from miles around to witness the successful delivery of water and the profitable crops that followed. Later the lifts were increased, not only for wells, but for the beneficial use of water from the Snake River and its tributaries. Today river water is successfully pumped to newly reclaimed acres as high as 625 feet, using low-cost electric power which, like the pumping projects themselves, results from individual enterprise.

Idaho farmers are now using pumps to irrigate more than a million acres, putting to beneficial use about three million acre feet of water. More than 8,500 pumps have been installed, and they are powered by investor-owned electric systems. The rate of development is proceeding at 50,000 acres per year.

This addition of new, productive acres is being accomplished without dislocation of the agricultural economy or jeopardy to existing farm investments.

It's sound progress for Idaho.

COMPLETED DOCK for use by water skiers on Redfish lake is pushed toward permanent location. District Ranger Ralph Clise was operating the pushing maneuver when this picture was taken last week. Cooperation of the state, county and forest service made the dock installation possible. The docks were built at the state penitentiary with money acquired through marine tax. Installation points are about 100 feet from shore. (Times-News photo) der way calling for installation of at least one ramp dock at both Redfish and Alturas lakes. These docks will be anchored to the shore by means of steel cables and will rise and fall with the water. It will enable boaters to step into their boats while anchored at the dock. These ramp docks are eight by 14-feet and at least two of them could be placed in tandem for wider use.

At the same time Ranger Clise and Rogge announced that two swimming areas at Redfish lake and a like number at Alturas lake, would be marked by special buoys, painted white and brilliantly marked in red. These were also made at the state prison with use of marine fund money.

Use of the buoys will give swimmers an area in which boats cannot enter, thus making for greater water safety. Markers will outline the areas between the buoys.

All installation plans were approved by the county officials and forest officials before installation started.

All agree that the installations will make both lakes more usable by the water skiing, boating and swimming public.

The installations are a part of the continuing program of the forest service and cooperating will be open for use by the public agencies to improve outdoor recreation, according to Ranger Clise.

Other work, for instance, includes construction of a parking area adjacent to the new boat launching area at Redfish and also an additional camping area. Work on both these projects is now under way and they

History of City of Rocks Relived as Bliss Students Visit Oakley Area

OAKLEY, Oct. 17—You don't see approximately 30 people in one jail at the same time very often so Oakley residents were rather astounded recently when the Bliss seventh and eighth grade American history class came to Oakley to visit points of interest.

For some time the class has been interested in southern Idaho history and had decided to visit the jail cell where the famous Diamondfield Jack spent some three years before he was officially set free from the accusation of murdering two sheepmen in the late 1800's.

The 42 students were accompanied by Donald Race and his daughter, Susan; Mrs. Fred Hedgeson, who acted as chaperone, and James Mechem and William McKay, both American history teachers. J. Newell Dayley lectured at various points on the tour.

They visited the jail at the noon hour and many residents were startled to see the large group viewing the concrete building. Dayley and Marshal Golden Harper took the group inside and showed them the No. 2 cell which confined Diamondfield Jack.

Dayley explained to the group that originally this portion of the jail was at Albion, once the Cassia county seat. In 1919 the county seat was moved from Albion to Buhl and the jail moved with it to Oakley.

The group was amazed to think that the jail is still in good condition and serves as the town jail. Dayley noted there aren't very many cells of this particular steel type left in this part of the country.

By traveling in a school bus the group had planned to stop somewhere along the 20-mile drive to the City of Rocks to eat their lunches about 10 miles out of Oakley a loud pop was heard and one of the dual-wheeled back tires went flat.

Returning to Oakley the group made good use of the facilities of the city park while the tire was changed and a spare put on.

By 1 p.m. the group was headed again towards the south hills to the town of class some, etc., a little noisy, but all in fun. Blowing down at the mouth of Fish creek where the last stage robbery in this part of the country was held, Dayley related the details of the robbery.

During the days of the famous Vipont Mine which mined silver about 1922, Wallace A. Hale, Oakley, was the mail carrier between Oakley and the Vipont mine and it was known that a large amount of pay roll money would be on the mail on a certain day.

It was at Fish creek that Hale met two masked bandits who shot at him and missed. Hale was hoping for $10,000 to $15,000. In their hurry they missed about $500 that was in the glove compartment.

"The reason for the money not being on the route," Dayley told the group, "was that because of a mix up at the state bank in Oakley the money was delayed until the next day. Three days later the men were caught and both died years later in prison."

Mrs. Race was particularly interested in this trip as it was in this area that she was raised as a young girl. Her home was only a few miles south of the City of Rocks at the Buller ranch. Her parents were among the first people to immigrate to the Moulton Valley from Utah, Utah.

She pointed out several log cabin houses to the west of the road and explained these were "line" cabins—all of them are one mile apart in a direct line from each other. During the winter-time many a cowboy's life has been saved by these cabins as a good supply of canned food and firewood was kept handy at all times.

Coming to Emery canyon the bus turned east and the students became aware of the vastness of the area and the mighty rocks ahead.

The "Turtle rock, the Squaw rock in the distance with weather in her hair, the Twin sisters, the Camp rock and the Treasure rock are just a few of the rocks that the group viewed. The Treasure rock seemed to bring the group after it was learned that it was here the two stage bandits, who robbed the old stage station some one-half mile away, were caught after hiding a huge amount of gold somewhere between that particular rock and Strevell, a small town on the Utah, Idaho line.

A second robbery took place and a total of $144,000 in gold in both robberies has made many people interested in searching for it. This is evident by the fresh dirt which has been piled in mounds in the vicinity.

The Camp rock proved interesting also, as it was in the hollow of the monstrous rock that the old stage station was built, twice and it was burned to the ground by the Indians.

Automobile Bug Bites Frenchmen

PARIS, Oct. 17 Mrs.—Upwards of a million Frenchmen paid to see more than 120 different types of automobiles at the Paris show which ended last week and the same sort of thing will happen again next week in London.

How many cars French enthusiasts bought is not disclosed but the number is considerable. Europe has become automobile-conscious beyond the wildest dreams of such pioneers as Henry Ford, Britain's William Morris and France's De Dion Bouton.

One person in every 10 in Europe owns a car now against one automobile for every 2.8 persons in the United States. And the European industry is rapidly trying to close the gap.

For every headmaster who cries "a saturation" there is an optimist to point out that the world's production of 17 million autos a year is not much against the total world population of 3.2 billion.

France, despite totally inadequate roads—a bare 250 miles of expressway for an area of 212,650 square miles—and no place to park new cars, is steadily increasing the two-car family idea.

The French fifth economic plan foresees 12 million cars in France by 1970—one for every 4.5 Frenchmen—as against only five million in 1960. Britain currently has one car for about seven persons.

With jammed cities and long stretches of road for vacation one-way and family travel, the average Frenchman relishes the idea of a tiny runabout for the city and a big car for out-of-town use.

Indignate public transport, the urge to go somewhere different and see something new, as well as booming economies, easier credit and greater mass production has been mainly responsible for the great increase in Europe's number of car owners.

But unlike the United States, where automobiles come in many shapes and colors but only two sizes—big or not so big—the European motorist requires an infinitely greater range of choice.

If needs, particularly in France, are dictated mostly by the size of his checkbook. State taxes on the sale of a car, or the permit to run it on the road or the cost of insurance which usually is rated according to horsepower are very considerable factors.

Place Changed

BUHL, Oct. 17—A change of meeting place is announced for the Buhl PTA meeting, according to Mrs. J. Newell Johnson, president. The PTA meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Monday in the Buhl elementary school rather than in the high school as previously announced.

The PTA executive board meeting slated for 7 p.m. Monday also will be held in the elementary school.

Road Grader Is Secured For Richfield

RICHFIELD, Oct. 17—A new road grader and snow plow have been secured for Richfield road district on a rental agreement with Western Road Machinery company.

Optional purchase of the $60,000 equipment is also provided in the agreement. Terms call for a $6,000 down payment with the balance paid in the next two years.

A request for the district to pay for 33 hours of road work on access road to the residence of Mrs. Holt was tabled until the November meeting.

Board members conferred with Mrs. Holt and road supervisor James T. Brown at the residence of Mrs. Holt had contracted for the work with Jack Myers, Bellevue, at $16 per hour.

Highway district attorney, Howard Adkins, Shoshone, has been asked to arrange for acquisition of adjacent lands into the district without further delay.

OLD STAGECOACH, given to the Wood River Historical society by the Union Pacific railroad, is stored out of the weather awaiting next appearance of a busy schedule which might, next year, include the Cheyenne Frontier days. The officers of the Wyoming event are among Western groups trying to acquire the stage. Robert R. Glenn, president of the Wood River Historical society, left, and John Sidley, immediate past president, agree that the vehicle will be shown, but never given away. Sidley was instrumental in getting the stage for the society. It was a gift from A. E. Stoddard, railroad president. (Times-News photo)

Ketchum's Hard Working Stage May Be Shown at Cheyenne Frontier Days

KETCHUM, Oct. 17—The hard working stagecoach of this community, which years ago was used to haul tourists through the then motorless Yellowstone park, may get a different kind of workout next year.

It is known as the hard working stagecoach because it is used in public parades whenever possible and is displayed often during various meetings at Sun Valley. It may get a different kind of workout by appearing at the Cheyenne Frontier days.

The history of the coach precedes use of automobiles in Yellowstone. When retired from the park job, the stage was put on display—in a rustic setting—between the Union Pacific depot and the dining lodge at West Yellowstone. In 1901 when the Union Pacific continued "Y" into West Yellowstone for passenger use,

John Sidley, then president of the Wood River Historical society, wrote a personal letter to A. E. Stoddard, railroad president, asking that this particular stage be donated to the Wood River valley group.

The railroad president ordered the coach given to the society, through Sidley, and it was picked up in West Yellowstone and brought to Ketchum.

Sidley recalls that it is fortunate that the request was made early, because since that time many western communities—including Cheyenne—have asked for the stage.

Records show the coach has never turned rusty because it really gets around. It has appeared in parades in Richfield, Mackay, Shoshone, Twin Falls and Hagerman in addition to the wagon days event in Ketchum.

Now Robert R. Glenn, present head of the Wood River society, has an idea in the back of his head. "Because Cheyenne wants the stage we should at least let them look at it. We hope that next year it can be taken to Cheyenne to appear during their celebration," Glenn said.

At home the coach also takes part during the Black Jack Ketchum shoot-out put on by the Ketchum Chamber of Commerce.

"Our historical society might as well let them see it, even if they do not own it," they said as they inspected the vehicle this week.

"She's in good shape and all set to go, anytime," Glenn said. His words were seconded by Sidley, who first saw the coach when he worked in West Yellowstone before Sun Valley was born. He is now transportation agent at the resort.

The coach is now housed in a

OLD STRUCTURE, formerly a saloon in Ketchum, now houses several old vehicles including stagecoach which hauled visitors through Yellowstone park before the advent of the automobile. Both the coach and the structure are connected with western history. The old building is a saloon club, but the vehicle housed inside are property of the Wood River Historical society. John Sidley, immediate past president, left, and Robert R. Glenn, president of the society, talk history in front of the old building. (Times-News photo)

LAST MINUTE goodbyes are given over the telephone by Sgt. Frank Kasper, who has served the Magic Valley area for almost five years as a recruiting sergeant for the U.S. army. The Kaspers left Wednesday for Tacoma. (Times-News photo)

After Five-Year Tour of Duty Here, Army Recruiter Is Moved to Tacoma

After a five-year tour of duty in Twin Falls SFC Frank Kasper is being transferred to the army recruiting station, 743 Broadway, Tacoma, Wash.

"Five years is an unusual length of time for an army recruiter to spend in one place, but it's been five wonderful years. I've enjoyed Twin Falls and Magic Valley to the fullest. In a way I hate to leave," said Sergeant Kasper.

Kasper has become a fixture in many Twin Falls community projects. His most active interest was in sports.

His tour in Twin Falls indicates primarily the recent role the U.S. army is undertaking in recruiting men for military service. Now the army is seeking a salesman to sell the army, rather than someone who is just a soldier.

Trying to procure enlistments is a competitive business. The military services of the United States are no longer seeking someone who will just occupy a niche in an organization. The military has become career minded. The army offers qualified male youths opportunities in many fields. To train a man for a specific job is expensive and the army has dressed up the service to attract someone looking for a lifetime career.

The draft has been the principal means of supplying manpower, but the military service would like to be in a position where voluntary enlistments would fill the quota needed to protect the nation.

Evidently Sergeant Kasper likes the army for one of the men he recruited was himself. This happened in 1961.

The army considers recruiting one of the toughest jobs it has, and it takes a particular type of person to do the job of selling. Sergeant Kasper was been in the recruiting end of the army for eight years. Evidently I must be a pretty good salesman because I've been at it for some time now," he says.

In the past five years he has enlisted more than 500 youths in the army. This will average out to one youth every three days, including Saturdays and Sundays.

"If it is possible that an army recruiting sergeant could have a home, then Twin Falls has definitely been home to us," said the Sergeant. "The last seven days here have been difficult."

Twin Falls Music club to present to the Times-News.

The national board selected Mrs. Herzinger's article for one of the many articles sent to them by the many clubs throughout the United States. This is the only such award given to a paper in Idaho for its coverage of the White breakfast and the "March of American Music" for the year 1963-64.

The National Federation of Music Clubs designated its parade of American music program not only to familiarize its members with the works of the American composers and to give these composers a wider hearing, but to impress upon the whole American public that the United States has an indigenous musical culture equal to that of other countries.

The National Federation of Music Clubs was founded in 1898. Today, there are 5,500 clubs located in every state of the union and the District of Columbia. Membership is more than 600,000.

Mrs. Earl Riddle won a double award on the program for the Twin Falls Music club for the White breakfast. This double ribbon is given for programs of unusual distinction which are particularly outstanding as to musical content and research.

Both Party Chiefs Eye Vote Victory

Idaho would set a new vote record of around 310,000.

Walker thought the total would come just under the record 300,450 cast in the 1960 presidential election. He guessed it at 290,500. Elected state officials listed vote forecasts ranging from 275,000 to 305,000. State Treasurer Marjorie R. Moon picked the latter figure and Secretary of State Arnold Williams also forecast a record, 302,000.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie and Atty. Gen. Allan C. Shepard both said they thought the vote would be substantially the same as in 1960, 300,450.

State Auditor Joe R. Williams guessed 290,000 and Leuk, Gov. Williams E. Drevlow came in with the smallest prediction, 275,000. Both Williams and Drevlow said they believe many persons will not vote.

"They are not satisfied with either candidate," Drevlow said. Williams said he believes the total will be under that of four years ago "because so many Republicans won't vote for Goldwater because they don't like what he stands for, and won't vote for Johnson because he's a Democrat."

In 1960 Idaho topped the nation in the percentage of 19 eligible voters who cast ballots. The 300,450 total represented 83.3 per cent of those eligible.

The number dropped off in the non-presidential year of 1962 with 258,910 casting ballots. Idaho has voted for the winning presidential candidate in every election in the past quarter of a century except in 1900. It gave its four electoral votes to Republican Richard Nixon that year while the nation was electing Democrat John F. Kennedy.

The percentage of the total votes gained by the winner ranged from 51 to 65 per cent in Idaho in that quarter of a century. President Dwight D. Eisenhower got 65 per cent in 1952 and the late Franklin D. Roosevelt the same percentage.

Roosevelt in 1944 and President Harry S. Truman in 1948 won by 51 per cent majorities.

Within the state, 10 counties have been right on the basis of the statewide winners—every thing in the past century.

They are Adams, Blaine, Boise, Bonneville, Caribou, Gem, Jefferson, Madison, Oneida and Teton.

Walker, predicting the vote total will come under the 1960 record, said there is "a big question mark" that could hold the vote down.

He said he felt Goldwater has not "faced up to the issue and that many people do not know the Republican candidate stands."

"It's just like trying a lawsuit against a bad lawyer," said Walker, who is a lawyer. "There really isn't any opponent for President Johnson. We're really running the whole campaign."

He said he believes the same factor, which he said will result in a narrow victory, is involved in all three top races — for president and for the two congressional seats.

"Goldwater has no issues that are in any sense attractive to the public, in fact they frighten me," said Walker. "Hansen and Mattinger are both campaigning as Goldwater people and they haven't got any issues either."

McMurray said he thinks the turnout will exceed that of four years ago because of more intensive work by volunteers.

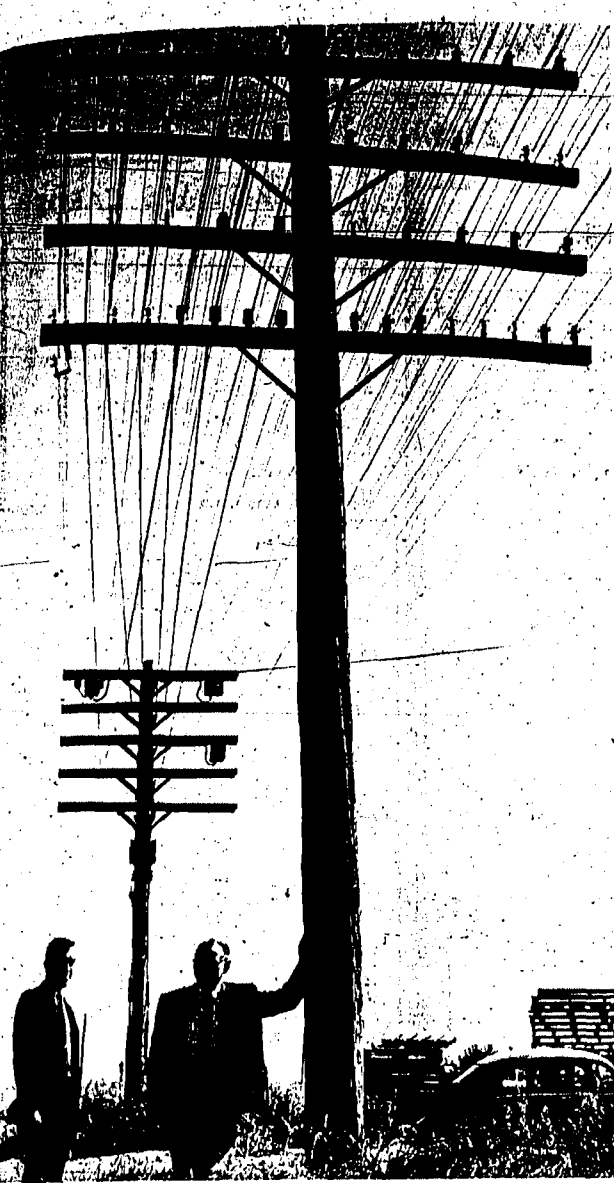

"There's more activity in most of our large counties than we have seen in many years," McMurray said. "We have more volunteers and more people willing to work than we have had in presidential election since 1932."

McMurray said he thinks Republicans will retain their majorities in both the house and senate in the state legislature.

Additional Performances Scheduled For Production About "Pied Piper"

Additional performances of the "Pied Piper of Hamelin" have been scheduled by the Twin Falls Community Children's Theater group. Normally the group schedules four performances, but because of the out-of-town requests, six performances have been scheduled this time.

The first curtain will rise at 4:30 p.m. Friday at the O'Leary Junior high school auditorium. The following day curtain times are 10:30 a.m., 7:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. On Oct. 26, a 4:30 p.m. and a 6:30 p.m. schedule have been set.

According to Mrs. Eugene Sturgill, the out-of-town residents have already booked one show. Buses will bring children from Jerome and Sun Valley. "Since receiving national honors for our group, the members of this production have worked doubly hard to make this show the best ever," said Mrs. Sturgill.

The cast, as announced by Mrs. Sturgill, is: Pied Piper, Chris Jensen; Willi, Mike Sturgill; Gretel, Jackie Hovey; Klaus, Jerry Sturgill; Mrs. Becker, Kristy Wadsworth; Mrs. Pletscher, Howard Hagemeister; Councillor Schmidt, Eugene Rich; Mrs. Hauptmann, Norma VanLeeuwen; Ursula, Pamela Hargrett; Councillor Reiter, Dan Smith; Mayor Schultz, Ivan Squires; Heinrich, Guy Watson; Kurt, George Brown; Clara, Terri Reider; Mittie, Lynette Berry; Mr. Becker, Mike Barnett; Karl, Joe VanLeeuwen; and Fredrick, Mark Goley.

The children of Hamelin will be portrayed by Ann McRill; David Robbins; Brook Call; Vicki VanLeeuwen; Laurie Wright and Kelly Sturgill.

"The backstage crew has done a remarkable job considering we've been short-handed all during the production. I certainly wish we could muster more help on these projects," said the director.

A portable stage will be used in this production and will extend out to the first row of seats at the auditorium. This will put the action out into the audience. This will be a "first" in this area.

Local Persons To Attend PTA Meet Nov. 4-6

"PTA on the March," is the theme set for the 55th annual convention of the Idaho Association of Parents and Teachers to be held Nov. 4, 5, and 6 in Pocatello.

Local people who will be on the program or planning for it include Mrs. Abraham Amos; Mrs. John Hayes; Mrs. Keith Amende; Allison; Mrs. Richard Mabbitt; Shoshone; Mrs. Floyd Kistling; Dietrich; and Mrs. Pierce Rogers.

It is expected that between 400 and 500 persons will represent 44,114 parents and teachers of the Idaho organization at the meeting.

Legislative activity in behalf of education and the welfare and protection of children and youth will be one of the principal items of business.

Other areas besides finance and mental health clinics which will be discussed are family courts, kindergartens, sex offenders, handicapped children, certification of teachers and the election of trustees.

Mrs. Sturgill says that children attending the play become acquainted with the story of the Pied Piper and added it will be an enjoyable performance for the entire family.

Why? Because you have no world history background to bring to your reading. There's a motive.

Solid advice, you say, but it's too late in the course. No. Take 15 minutes before you read tonight's assignment. Look at the title page. Get all you can. Now read the table of contents and see what the book plans to cover. Read the opening and close of the preface; there the author tells you his plans. Already you've learned a good bit.

Now go through the chapters preceding tonight's homework. Study the title, the first two paragraphs, the divisions, the boldface sections; check pictures and illustrations; read the conclusions. Do that with all the chapters till you get to your assignment. This will show you where you're going, why you're going and the things you don't know.

The big thing is that you have involved yourself. You've tackled world history for your own good reasons. You're beginning now to concentrate. (You should have completed this reading in 96 seconds) (NEXT: Pre-Reading: Your Sense of Direction.)

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

SUNDAY, OCT. 18—Born today, you have that sort of pleasing, easygoing personality that causes many who do not know you to mistake you for an "easy mark." This, however, is completely false, for you are well aware of the ins and outs of those who try to take advantage of the weak, the idle and the naive. In reality, you yourself are none of these.

Actually, your seemingly open and naive personality is your greatest defensive weapon. It allows you to enter social circles from which were you to appear more knowing, more worldly, you would be automatically barred; it allows you to gain the confidence of those who would never confide in one of a more sophisticated demeanor. It allows you, in short, to be a most efficient undercover agent in matters slight or grave.

You have a deeply embedded sense of right and wrong; at the same time, however, you are neither prudish nor necessarily conventional. Rather, you are imaginative in your own thinking and eager to encourage originality in others. Were you to consider teaching as a career, you might well be on the right track!

Among those born on this date are: Fanny Hurst, American author; Thomas Love Peacock, English satirist; novelist; and poet; Henri Louis Bergson, French philosopher.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Magic Valley Council of Churches Formation Begun

A preliminary meeting for the formation of a Magic Valley Council of Churches was held at the First Presbyterian church in Twin Falls Thursday night.

Ministers and lay members of five Twin Falls churches attending agreed to study the possibility of forming a new inter-church cooperation and this can be obtained only through a local Council of Churches.

The Rev. Mr. Riddle spoke on the nature of Christianity and pointed out Council of Churches as all levels are in response to a groundswell for cooperative Christian action, started in 1958 with the former Federal Council of Churches.

It was pointed out lines of communication between national and state councils to the local council are parallel and promotional efforts by the National Council of Churches are speaking to, not for, the participating denominations which have a membership of more than 40 million persons.

Opening devotions were presented by the Rev. Esclafiter of the Church of the Brethren.

The Rev. Robert H. Harvey, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, noted the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA was formed in 1950 and is a cooperative agency of 31 Protestant and Orthodox communions in the U.S.

It is an outgrowth of 13 separate agencies which previously worked on different phases of Christian cooperation.

"The common denominator for the council is faith in Christ," the Rev. Mr. Harvey declared. He noted the National Council of Churches is to help denominations in areas where they can be more effective working together than separately.

Examples of activities by the National Council of Churches include youth work, cooperative mission work, Christian education, radio and television, national parks ministry and Church World Service, its overseas relief and rehabilitation agency.

The Rev. Forrest J. Hibbard of the Valley Christian church explained that a local Council of Churches could choose whatever projects its membership wished. Typical projects are cooperative mission study and leadership training.

Differences between a Council of Churches and a Ministerial association were pointed out by the Rev. John Garbrandt, associate pastor of the Methodist church.

Elmer A. Kassens, district traffic engineer for the state highway department, Shoshone, presented a cooperative agreement for maintenance of the new four-lane highway within the village area.

Mercury vapor lights have been installed on the corners of 18th street and O street, 18th and N street, and a rental unit for the electric gas and oil company.

The electric department was instructed to install a steel pole where J street meets the new four-lane highway. The pole will contain an eight foot arm with mercury vapor light.

The foundation has been completed for the new substation located north of Simplot's. Jack Strauss, board member, and Tom Church, village lawyer, were appointed to represent the village in a meeting with Simplot officials at Boise to make an agreement on land purchase for the substation.

The site of the new substation is on property owned by J. R. Simplot. Westinghouse engineers recommended the village get the

Pre-Reading Results in Direction, Saves Time

By The Reading Laboratory, Inc.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Association

Time your reading of this column and compare your speed with that indicated at the end. The expected speed assumes a daily five per cent improvement.

Without too much trouble, you've managed to work up a solid distaste for world history. Your grades are poor. Or maybe you do honestly like it, but your grades are poor anyway.

There's no point in blaming the teacher or the text; you'll change neither. The problem is that you couldn't care less. You are failing to concentrate. Notice we didn't say you are incapable of concentrating because you surely pay attention when you like what you're doing. The only cure for "I couldn't care less about world history" is to care for Number One—you.

Before finding out how to get control of ourselves, let's make a study-room check.

CHAIR. Not too comfortable, not too uncomfortable. Set your lower back firmly against the chair's back.

LIGHT. Natural light is best. If you don't have that, be sure the bulb is no less than 100 watts and that there's another nearby light source of about the same power.

NOISES. You'll enjoy that disc jockey a lot more before or after world history, not during. And vice versa.

BOOK. Don't lay it flat on the desk. Prop up the top so every part of the page is an equal distance from your eyes.

You're all set, except something's bothering you. Your girl friend or boy friend has been giving you grief lately. Or you're in some sort of trouble. If there is anything you can do about it, do it. Can't do it right now? Then figure out the best thing to do and the best time to do it, and resolve to do just that. No point in worrying any more right now.

There must be someone who likes world history. The fellow who wrote the text book does. He's happy and making money from the book; you're miserable and piling up aggravation. Do what the author did; find the good in world history for you.

One motive would be to turn around and get the better of it, to remove one more itch from your life. Don't worry about five years from now. Maybe the prospect of shock on the teacher's face when you show up prepared tomorrow; certainly getting rid of a failure on your record should motivate you to discover some good.

Look at it this way. World history was assigned to you. The faculty had some advantage for you in mind. Ask one of them, if you have to. Chances are you skip one of the best parts of your newspaper—world affair. Why? Because you have no world history background to bring to your reading. There's a motive.

Solid advice, you say, but it's too late in the course. No. Take 15 minutes before you read tonight's assignment. Look at the title page. Get all you can. Now read the table of contents and see what the book plans to cover. Read the opening and close of the preface; there the author tells you his plans. Already you've learned a good bit.

Now go through the chapters preceding tonight's homework. Study the title, the first two paragraphs, the divisions, the boldface sections; check pictures and illustrations; read the conclusions. Do that with all the chapters till you get to your assignment. This will show you where you're going, why you're going and the things you don't know.

The big thing is that you have involved yourself. You've tackled world history for your own good reasons. You're beginning now to concentrate. (You should have completed this reading in 96 seconds) (NEXT: Pre-Reading: Your Sense of Direction.)

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

SUNDAY, OCT. 18—Born today, you have that sort of pleasing, easygoing personality that causes many who do not know you to mistake you for an "easy mark." This, however, is completely false, for you are well aware of the ins and outs of those who try to take advantage of the weak, the idle and the naive. In reality, you yourself are none of these.

Actually, your seemingly open and naive personality is your greatest defensive weapon. It allows you to enter social circles from which were you to appear more knowing, more worldly, you would be automatically barred; it allows you to gain the confidence of those who would never confide in one of a more sophisticated demeanor. It allows you, in short, to be a most efficient undercover agent in matters slight or grave.

You have a deeply embedded sense of right and wrong; at the same time, however, you are neither prudish nor necessarily conventional. Rather, you are imaginative in your own thinking and eager to encourage originality in others. Were you to consider teaching as a career, you might well be on the right track!

Among those born on this date are: Fanny Hurst, American author; Thomas Love Peacock, English satirist; novelist; and poet; Henri Louis Bergson, French philosopher.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Monday, Oct. 19

LIBRA (Sept. 22-Oct. 23)—Use your artistic sense to judge the present situation. Shape and design are the key to successful ventures.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23)—A high-risk day financially! Nevertheless, there are gains to be made if you know where to look.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Business and pleasure mix unusually well today. Start the work-week off right by succeeding on both levels.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—Create your own dramatic effects by the clever use of humor and timing. You can regain the spotlight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Surroundings need not be as luxurious as you would like, but the atmosphere should be intellectually stimulating. If you would succeed today!

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)—Go out of your way, if necessary, to attain nothing but the best. The Pisces who accept mediocrity now may well regret it later.

ARIES (March 21-April 20)—Use your unusually fine sense of discrimination to know who your enemies are and why. You can save yourself embarrassment.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—A day in which you may be made uncomfortably aware of the fact that your taste exceeds your pocketbook. Watch the budget!
